

Dear Prototype Cup Germany Teams,

To make communication quick and easy to all of you and us we set up a Messenger service for you. Some of you already know the system from other series such as Michelin Le Mans Cup.

Our Prototype Cup Germany Discord is available for one (1) Teammanager per Team. Please register with the link below. Once you registered, we give you the permissions to see all the relevant channels.

<https://discord.gg/EWf93yR6MN>

We set up the channels as followed (example):

Paddock:

All relevant general information about Prototype Cup Germany will be send out into this channel.

Race Control:

If you have any specific information or requests (important to all teams) to race control, you can submit it into here. For example, if your race control radio is not working or if there are information from race control to you (all teams), they will be published here as well.

Stewards:

Request from and to the Stewards of the Meeting can be submitted and will be published here.

Scrutineering:

Not set up yet – no function now.

Team channel:

This is our own team channel to communicate only your personal team requests. This can be used in both directions from and to you, Race Control, Stewards and Scrutineering.

General behavior:

- No public discussions (eg. Race Decisions etc.)
- No spamming
- No discussions during sessions
- Discord is no official document – only communication tool
